unfortunately, however there can be no reduction in the cost of the trail.

there are four different categories describing the effects of narcotics as a result of the energy shortage, large forest areas have been cut down, leading to soil erosion, the reduction of underground and surface water, and the formation of land and snow slides